I've been ordering from mcmaster carr for years and years thanks to my dozens of other hobbies in addition to brewing. Their shipping charges are always pretty decent. Unless I order

McMaster Carr is the savior of new product development engineers everywhere. I have placed phone calls to McMaster at 4 pm and had a box of parts on my desk at 10 am the next

Anything you can get on McMaster is available elsewhere, as far as I know. The difference is that a) McMaster has instashipping. b) McMaster has nearly everything, so it's one-stop

So I'm placing an order with McMaster Carr... Getting Eye-Nuts and sheer pins for sure (2-56 nylon screws, 1/2") I'm just trying to make sure I order everything I might need from

I just ordered a launch rail from McMaster-Carr, having heard of them here on TRF. I kept looking for a listing of shipping charges, but didn't find it. When I clicked through, I found that I

For the other Canadians who also spent two hours searching the McMaster-Carr website for equipment and parts, placed an order and paid, please share with us how you felt after

Here are the equivalent McMaster-Carr parts. There are 5 different sizes, 1 size is the same as what the Corny keg posts use, so you may already have some. BrewMometer: 9396K24

I'm going to place an order with mcmaster carr for various kegging supplies. Anybody know the part number for a tap handle insert like these? TAPHANDLE...

I am in the design phase of a carbon fiber 38mm MD rocket and am looking at options for fin material. I found
